UNDERWOOD ACCUSED OF USING PUBLIC MONEY FOR CAMPAIGN

Says He Used $413.50 Over Sum Provided by Law for Printing Report

RESTITUTION IS DEMANDED

Political circles throughout the country received a genuine shock on Saturday, when the Chief Clerk to the Commissioners sent them a letter stating that T. J. Underwood, County Controller, was using the public money for his personal campaign expenses. In this letter the Chief Clerk listed the several items showing how the money was being spent for Underwood's photograph and to address letters in his political campaign.

This was no real surprise to those who are familiar with Underwood's tactics. The Commissioners at their meeting today demanded in a formal resolution that the Controller return the money to the treasurer immediately.

This kind of conduct is a public offense and on the part of a public official does not meet with the approval of the people, and they will certainly retire Underwood to private life at the primaries on Wednesday. The letter sent by Clerk Mathias is as follows:

Washington, Pa., Sept. 14, 1917.

County Commissioners:

Washington, Pa.

Dear Sirs:

The Act of 1909 limits the cost of the Controller's Report of the county finances to $1,000.00 per year.

For the year 1916, the present County Controller has issued a book showing the finances of the County and also containing his own photograph and numerous other pictures. He has drawn upon the County fund for $1,413.50 for the publication of this Report for the year 1916, or $413.50 more than the maximum amount permitted by law.

I believe it is your duty to immediately demand that the present Controller return the aforesaid sum of $413.50, unlawfully expended, to the County Treasurer.

Yours truly,

J. W. MATHIAS,

Chief Clerk

Attached to the Clerk's letter is a list of the vouchers taken from the expenditures. They are as follows:

COUNTY W. C. T. U. MET IN CLAYSVILLE

The 35th annual convention of the county W. C. T. U. was held at Claysville, beginning at 3 o'clock, Thursday, September 6th, and continuing until Friday evening, September 7th. Thirty-seven delegates answered the roll call, all of the Unions in the county being represented except the Polock of Washington, and the colored Union of Donora. Every feature of W. C. T. U. work was reported on by delegates and all of them of the most encouraging character. Officers were elected for the ensuing year.

REGISTRANTS ARE BEING SUMMONED

Registrants of the Fifth District of Washington county who have passed their physical examination before the local Board are being summoned to report for army duty. Today 175 red cards are being sent out, notifying the men to report in Donora at 6 o'clock, p. m., Thursday, where they will be registered and where they will be entertained until they entrain for Camp Shesman at Chillicothe, Ohio. On Friday at 12:58 they will board the Pennsylvania passenger train at Donora, which will carry extra coaches for their accommodation, and begin the first part of their journey westward. At Pittsburg they will join with men from the other districts of Washington county, and will leave by special train for Camp Sherman some time later in the afternoon.

Prior to their departure on Friday the men will be entestained at dinnes by the citizens of Donora, this feature to be a community affair. From present indications, if the weather is favorable, next Friday will be one of Donora's "big days."

NEW STEAMBOAT IN COMMISSION

A new steamboat made its appearance on the local waters of the Monongahela on Friday. It bears the euphonious name of "Sweet Cake," and is owned by the Rodgers Sand Company of Pittsburg. The steamer is small in dimensions and power and is evidently intended for work in and about the Pittsburg harbor. At present the "Sweet Cake" is engaged in salvage work at the wreck of the sand dredge Harriet, which was destroyed by fire and sank in the river near the Schoenberger tipple, about two weeks ago. The wheel of the wrecked steamer was unshipped on Friday, while other valuable material will be removed during the wrecking process.

PRIZES AWARDED IN GARDEN EXHIBIT

The war garden exhibit of Saturday last was the successful climax of the food conservation campaign started by the local executive committee of the Woman's Suffrage organization, of which Mrs. H. W. Tweed is chairman. In March last the home garden contest was started by extensively advertising in the schools, with circulars carefully distributed, and a large canvas sign over the streets at the corner of Fifth and Fallowfield. About 500 packages of seeds were donated by the merchants, while some were received from the government. These were distributed to the school children. Vacant lots were then sought, and about eight started by people anxious for a garden. It is gratifying to state that most of these gardens had nice displays at the exhibit.

Not satisfied with stopping at this point the Suffrage Association directed to further the conservation by conducting canning classes at the high school building. This phase of the campaign was well carried out, as our people know.

In July the gardens all over town were judged by a competent committee, under direction of W. B. Darby and $15.00 in prizes distributed. Then the exhibit as the climax was successfully worked out by W. B. Darby and Mrs. Tweed. The fund of a little over $100 was wisely and economically used to cover all the expenses of the campaign. Thanks are due the merchants and business men, the Child Welfare Circle, the Royal Arcanum the L. C. B. A and generous ladies for the fund that did the work. Credit should also be given the borough council for plowing lots and to the school board for permission to use the domestic science rooms for canning. Likewise thanks are also due George Risbeck for the use of the room in which to hold the exhibit and to the men and women who did the judging. Most of the exhibits were left for sale and at 7:30 the auction was started. Everything was sold and over $25.00 realized which will be divided between the Red Cross and charity.

There were 55 different exhibitors and 135 exhibits. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Potatoes—First prize, Paul Hugus, Maple creek; second prize, Henry Mouly; third prize, Alpheus Bortmess, North Charleroi.

Cabbage, largest head, judged by weight—First prize, West Side Electric Railway garden; second prize, Playford Wright, Maple creek.

Best one half dozen ears of corn—Joseph Engel, 703 Shady avenue.

Finest quart of lima beans—Milby & Cowell.

Finest bunch beets—Mrs. Marvin Redd, 101 Fallowfield avenue.

Largest tomatoes, judged by weight—Mike Moncheck, 701 Eleventh street.

Finest string beans—Matt Engel, 1033 Oakland avenue.

TWO PICKPOCKETS ARRESTED WITH THE GOODS ON THEM

Had Victim's Purse in Hand When Grabbed by Street Car Men

MADE DESPERATE RESISTANCE

Two pickpockets who were operating on interurban cars of the Pittsburg Railways company, were arrested Saturday afternoon last at the Monesesn bridge, through the instrumentality of Motorman Jones and Conductor Wilson and Inspector Henrion in charge of the car on which the thieves were operating.

The arrest took place as passengers were boarding the car to go to Pittsburg. There was quite a crowd there at the time, among them an Italian contractor who had been working in Monessen. This man had a bundle of tools on his shoulder and as he was boarding the car the thieves attempted to steal his pocketbook. One of the thieves had taken the purse from the man's pocket and was in the act of handing it to his partner, when Inspector Henrion of the street car company saw the act.

He at once grabbed the men and held on to them, although they put up a terrific fight to get away. The police at Charleroi were at once notified and Chief Albright went with the patrol at once to the scene and brough the prisoners to the local police station. The contractor also [illegible] and Chief Albright turned back to him his p[illegible] which contained over $69. The thieves had no opportunity to get away with any part of the contents and it was turned over intact.

Later in the afternoon the two alleged thieves were arraigned before Justice of the Peace. Paul R. Nutt. They gave their names as James Adams and James P. Walters. They were both held for court and were taken over to jail by Chief Albright this afternoon.

Another report came to the police Saturday evening of robbery which took place while an Allenport man and his family were on their way to Charleroi. When the man left home he had $80 in his pocket. When he arrived in Charleroi his money was missing.

Pickpockets appear to be numerous on the local street car system at the present time and all passengers should be careful of their money. Street car officials and police officers are keeping a sharp lookout for the gentry but in crowded cars it is impossible to watch the movements of all suspicious characters.

STATE SECRETARY LANDES SPEAKS IN MONONGAHELA

W. G. Landes, State Secretary of the Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association will be in Monongahela this evening and deliver the address for the opening of the week's exercises now being held by the Methodist church of that city. This is rededicatory week, and meetings will be held every night this week. Quite a number of Charleroi people are expected to attend the meetings.

SMALL LOCKS HURT UP RIVER TRADE

Coal operators in the upper pools of the Monongahela are feeling keenly the absence of facilities for modern river transportation, the same as are now enjoyed by the operators in the lower pools.

In these days of congested rail traffic the Monongahela river has come in for a considerable boom, but it has not extended to any great extent beyond the sixth pool, for the reason that the locks up stream are not large enough or modern enough to permit of prompt passage.

Lock No. [illegible] is not yet up to standard [illegible] which permits of good service to boats bound for the sixth pool. The old lock at this point is still in commission, but it will be replaced when the country gets through with war. All of the locks above No. 6 are of the older type and small, and will have to be replaced by large ones if the river in the southern section of the valley is to be utilized by the coal operators of that section to any advantage. However, this improvement can not be expected at this time, and operators in that vicinity will have to put up with thenr present shipping facilities for some years yet. It will be a drawback to the coal business, but it is the best that can be done under the circumstances.

Charleroi, Pa.

To the Public: The writer has known and respected Capt. John K. Hein for more than 4 years and knows him to be a man worthy of the confidence of the people of Charleroi and in every respect well able to fill the office of Burgess. His 12 years of service in our council has shown him to be a man for the people and it is my opinion that if elected he would be found to be an earnest worker for our city and always on the job.

Respectfully yours,

A Citizen and Taxpayer.

MILITARY CITIES

June 5 was the "day of honor" for the registration of our citizen soldiers. September 5 was the official day of their departure to the cantonments, there to be trained for war on European soil. It also was a day of honor, for whether the departing soldiers-to-be paraded on that or preceeding or subsequent days they were reviewed and applauded by all that is best in their respective communities. Through the citizen soldiers of the District of Columbia the whole national army of the nation was honored. In Washington the President himself led the march, followed by the Cabinet, the Senate and the House, distinguished Union veterans and old Confederates of these eminent bodies marching in uniform and arm in arm. Yet democracy was the dominant note in the whole, rich and poor youths tramping side by side and a happy drafted negro actually dancing a jig as he marched on his way under the eyes of the nations greatest representatives.

And where are these citizen soldiers going for their training for war? Not to rude encampments of the old-time type, but to military cities the like of which the world has never seen—cities of about a thousand substantial buildings each adapted to every need and comfort, provided with water, light, paved streets, telephones, rifle ranges, drill grounds, heated barracks and complete railway facilities for debarking, embarking and receiving supplies. Small wonder that such luxurious cantonments have not all been [illegible] within the allotted three months even with the aid of unlimited cash. To prepare to receive for training 687,000 men in such style is no light task. But Uncle Sam is determined to look to the comfort as well as the efficient training of his citizen soldiers who are to fight the last fight for independence, freedom and democracy.

HATE IN GERMANY

Reflecting observers foresaw that President Wilson's reply to the Pope eliminating the Hohonzollerns would be employed in Germany as a means of rallying the people in support of the reigning dynasty, but probably no one foresaw an anti-Wilson "moblization" of German women and children. The "mobilized" are not expected to march on Washington, of course; they are only to love the Kaiser and hate and curse the President. The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin has published an appeal to the women of Germany urging them to "cast their curses and disgust in the face of" the head of the American government. No doubt Kaiserdom now rings with "Gott strafe Wilson," for German women who deliberately spat in the face of helpless prisoners of war may be relied on to curse as in 1917 the Prussian general in command at Limburg made a speech in which he extolled the advantages of hate and said that there was nothing like getting up in the morning after having passed a night in thought and dreams of hate." Are such people civilized beings, savages at heart, or just grown-up children? much as is desired.

It is difficult for the average American to comprehend all this. We as a people are not wanting in patriotic zeal or in indignation under insolence and wrong, but we value our dignity and shrink from any approximation of the violent, fishwife method. We associate hate with wickedness, we really don't enjoy it and we insist on keeping it within respectable limits. The Germans, on the other hand, seem to revel in it. "Hate in Germany is cultivated as a noble passion," says ex-Ambassador Gerard in his account of his Berlin experience, "and during the war divines and generals vied with each other in its praise. OPPOSE ASSIGNMENT TO DEPOT BRIGADE

The Eighteenth Pennsylvania's regiment which arrived at Camp Hancock only a few days ago, has lodged a protest with Secretary of War Baker against being assigned to the depot brigade. The protest was presented by Representatives Campbell, Kelly and Moore of Allegheny county, in behalf of the officers and men, who want to be assigned to duty in France.

It is said the tentative plans of General Clement include the Tenth and Sixteenth regiments in the depot brigade, whose duty would be confined to service in this country. Just why the old Second Brigade has been suggested for this service when Gen. O'Neil's brigade had already been assigned is something that is not explained. The Second brigade is from the western part of the state, while all of the other units are from the other side of the Alleghenies. Gen. Clement is also rated as an easy-going man. Should these tentative plans be officially recommended there will be an awful howl from this section of Pennsylvania. The Tenth Regiment with its brilliant record in the Philippines, and the Sixteenth with a record of service in Porto Rico, should above all others be given greater consideration at the hands of the authorities. These are the only two Pennsylvania regiments that have seen foreign service.

TO BEGIN INTENSIVE TRAINING ON MONDAY

All of the regiments of the Fifty-sixth Infantry Brigade, formerly the Second of the Pennsylvania National Guard, now being in camp at Augusta, Ga., it is proposed to begin the intensive training of these units for service in France on Monday next. Details of the schedule for this training have not yet been given out, but it said the men will have to begin all over again, and will advance by gradual degrees to the sort of work now being performed by the warring armies. William E. McC[illegible] ceased, late of Charleroi, it is indicated that the next 16 weeks in the lives of these soldiers will be devoted to the hardest drill and that when the men go to France they will be trained thoroughly in modern warfare.

The Pennsylvania regiment of the 56th Brigade were out on the field on Wednesday and drilled for hours. This was the first real work in the way of military drill done at Camp Hancock. Later in the evening the Tenth Regiment, under Lt. Col. Henry W. Coulter, held a parade and gave an excellent exhibition of marching.

Underwood"s Bluff is Called

Underwood claims credit for preventing the Trinity Hall "grab" of $150,000. As a matter of fact Underwood did nothing in this matter until after the Directors of the Poor had withdrawn the case from the Grand Jury. Bluff No. 1

Underwood claims he prevented the coal being sold under the County Home property, saving the county $50,000.

As a matter of fact the Auditor, who was sustained by the court reported that the coal of the county could not be sold at all. Bluff No. 2.

Underwood for Himself Not for the County

Some months ago the County Commissioners made public a letter which was received from Controller Underwood, which shows that he desired to have the Commissioners commit an illegal act by purchasing his second-hand automobile for the use of the county agreeing to go along for other purchases if the Commissioners would buy his old car. This letter which speaks for itself was addressed to himself and was to be signed by the board of Commissioners and returned to him.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 18, 1916.

T. J. Underwood, CountyController:
Washington, Pa.

You are hereby authorized as per motion duly made and seconded by us, to purchase the following for the use of the county viz:
1 V. M. C. General Motor Co., 5-ton Truck for the use in the Road Department.
1 Ford Car for the use of the Engineers Department.
1 Cole Car from Harry Robinson as per proposition made by him to us for the use of the County Commissioners, Engineers and Controller.

Respectfully yours,
.....

The Commissioners refused to have anything to do with such a letter as they considered it a deliberate attempt on his part to get the County Commissioners to join in a dishonest and illegal act. The Cole car, mentioned above, was Controller Underwood's own second-hand machine, which he wished to unload on the county at a big price.

Is this the kind of a man you want for Controller—Mr. Voter—Is your business safe in Underwood's hands?

Another Illegal Transaction.

The Controller is authorized to expend the sum of not more than $1,000 for the publication of his annual report. This year he used over $1,400 of the taxpayers' money to get out this report—largely to advertise himself, thereby spending over $400 of the county's money illegally. Does this show that he has the interests of the taxpayers at heart? Does it not show what has already been said that Underwood is for Himself first for the County, next.

Underwood's entire term as Controller has been against you Mr. Taxpayer. Are you going to keep him there for four years more on such a Record?

A Lie Nailed Down Tight

Controller Underwood has publicly stated in his advertisements that the council of Donora has made a demand on the Sealer of weight and Measures to inspect the measures of the merchants for the first time in four years. Read this affidavit Mr. Voter. Know the Truth. Another Bluff called by Mr. Mikesell.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA
COUNTY OF WASHINGTON, ss:

Personally appeared before me the subscribed a Notary Public in and for said County and State Dill H. Watson, Editor of the Donora American, who being duly sworn according to law does depose and say that on the morning of September 15, 1917, he visited the business places of M. Wise, meat dealer; S. H. Slezak, meat dealer; Joseph Ceglarski, meats and groceries; Nathan Friedlander, dry goods; Compton & Corder, groceries; Weiss & Heatter, meats; J. A. Bonnell & Son, groceries; Benj. Friedlander, meats; L. Fried, meats; E. D. Morse hardware; D. S. Bayne & Co., department store; Faller Brothers, furniture, all engaged in business in Donora, Pennsylvania and that he found on all scales and measures in their stores and shops 1917 seal of O. Evans Mikesell, Sealer of Weights and Measures of Washington county that he spoke to the proprietors or their managers in all the above places and was assured by them that Mr. Mikesell had regularly visited and inspected the weights and measures in 1913, 1915, 1916 with the exception of J. A. Bonnell & Son who have been in business less than two years.

Further it was sworn and subscribed by the siad Will H. Watson that he visited thirty-two (32) other stores in which the scales and measures bore the 1917 seal of Sealer O. Evans Mikesell and that seals of previous years were visible beneath the 1917 seals but the proprietors were not in their places of business to give information as to inspections previous to 1917.

Sworn and subscribed before me the fifteenth day of September, A. D., 1917.

Mikesell's Record As Sealer of Weights and Measures Receives Highest Endorsement

S. W. Stratton, Director of the Bureau of Standards, of the United States Government at Washington, D. C., says:
O Evans Mikesell, Washington, Pa.

"I take this opportunity to congratulate you on the good results obtained. Your record would be a splendid one in a thickly settled community and is little short of extraordinary when the large amount of territary is considered. It must be gratifying to you to realize that you should have attracted the attention and received the approbation of those officials most active in the movement for honest weights and measures throughout the country."

Louis A. Fischer, Chief of Division of Weights and Measures, Bureau of Standards of the United States Government at Washington, D. C., says:
O. Evans Mikesell, Washington, Pa.

"During the time you have been in office your record is little short of marvelous, and I am very much astonished that you should have been able to find time to cover the territory that you have and examine as many pieces of apparatus. I sincerely trust that your county will recognize the value of the servile rendered by you and award you accordingly. I know of no weights and measures official similarly situated who has accomplished such magnificent results and am only too glad to testify to these facts for you."

James Sweeney, Chief of the Bureau of Standards of the State of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, says:
O Evans Mikesell, Washington, Pa.

"The advanced copy of your annual report on inspection received and in reply thereto, permit m to commend yoo for your excellent work you have accomplished for the people of your county. When one considers the many difficulties and disadvantages in the way of an inspector in arranging the work and in making the people understand the purposes of the law so that the best possible results may be obtained with the least possible friction, you certainly have good and sufficient reasons to feel proud of your work. Your experience will prove of great tdvantage to you in your future work and I trust that you will encounter no opposition for your reappointment, as your experience is an asset in this work that should receive the fullest consideration.

Murray G. Livingston, Chief of the Department of Weights and Measures, Pittsburg, says:
O Evans Mikesell, Washington, Pa.

"Permit me to render my earnest congratulations upon the splendid results attained by you in your inspection of weights and measures in Washington county. You have every reason to feel proud of your work and the county officials must feel honored by your work. Working, as you do, without assistance and without rapid transportation facilities, the number of pieces tested and ground covered is amazing. Your County Commissioners are to be congratulated upon the success of your work and the wisdom they displayed in your appointment and retention."

Mikesell's Records Up To Date

The records of the Sealer of Weights and Measures are all on file at the office of the Chief of the State Bureau of Standards at Harrisburg as required by law. These have been sent regularly each month since he has been in office. They are there for the inspection of any taxpayer.

Mr. Voter—Is it not apparent to you that Underwood will keep up his Game of Bluff if again elected Controller? Is it not to your interests to see to it that you nominate and elect a man who will give you a Business Administration who will be Honest and Fair, who will not play politics, and who will make the office one of Service and value to you.

Mr. Watson, Chairman of the board of Commissioners when seen Saturday made the following statement.

"The letter from Mr. Mathias explains itself. While I am in the office Controller Underwood or no other person will be permitted to use the taxpayers money for personal or political purposes. Our board will meet Monday and demand that the Controller return this money to the County Treasurer immediately. It is the people's money and we are responsible to the people for its proper expenditure.

I have not been taking any part in the campaign because my time has been taken up with my duties on the exemption board and in this office. However, I found it necessary to refuse to approve an expense account of a county detective who was doing political work among clubs and pool-rooms in the interests of a certain candidate. It is illegal to make such expenditures of the people's money. When I found the County Controller was paying these accounts without delay, I deemed it necessary to investigate complaints made by certain reputable citizens. And I will say the investigation proved the complaints were well founded the detective was doing political duty for the present County Controller and the County Controller was approving his expense accounts and paying them from the county funds.

"I do not believe the people of Washington County want this kind of service from their chosen officials and I believe they should know these officials are guilty of such a conduct."

BANQUET TO THE PRODUCTS TEAM

The members of the Pittsburg Steel Products baseball team together with a number of invited guests were tendered a banquet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Regester, 414 Fallowfield avenue, Thursday evening. Twenty guests of Mr. Regester sat down to the banquet board, those outside of the team being Mr. Lindsay the official umpire, J. D. Case, treasurer; Mr. Dunbar a director and Messrs. Blythe and Shew. A six-course dinner was served under direction of Mesdames Regester, Blythe and Shew, at the conclusion of which the boys held a "talk-fest," with Mr. Regester as toastmaster. Experiences of the past season came in for the "once over." The affair proved to be very delightful in every respect and when the guests departed they expressed their appreciation at the splendid hospitality of the Regester home. The Products team is closing a highly successful season and in addition to winning a large majority of their games, have the satisfaction of knowing they are the undisputed champions of the Monongahela valley.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Quinn's Experience Ought to Help You Over the Critical Period.

Lowell, Mass.—"For the last three years I have been troubled with the Change of Life and the bad feelings common at that time. I was in a very nervous condition, with headaches and pain a good deal of the time so I was unfit to do my work. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it has [illegible] am not nearly so nervous, no headache or pain. I must say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best remedy any sick woman can take."—Mrs. MARGARET QUINN, Rear 259 Worthen St., Lowell, Mass.

Other warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness.

If you need special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

SLIPS OF THE PEN.

Even the Best of Writers at Times Nod While They Work.

Many if not most writers have had to bewail the occasional freakishness of the pen in putting down on paper something very different from that intended by its author.

Readers of Sir George Trevelyan's "Life of Macaulay" will recall the historian's horror when too late he discovered that he had written in the Edinburgh Review that "it would be unjust to estimate Goldsmith by 'The Vicar of Wakefield' or Scott by 'The Life of Napoleon' when he really intended to say that it would be unjust to estimate Goldsmith by his "History of Greece." There was, too, an amusing slip of the pen perpetrated by the grave Sir Archibald Alison in including Sir Peregrine Pickle instead of Sir Peregrine Maitland among the pall bearers at the Duke of Wellington's funeral.

Another striking instance of the pen mechanically writing something not intended came under notice the other day on the title page of a reprint of a once famous book, Jane Porter's "Scottish Chiefs." This edition, published some years ago by a well known London house, describes Miss Porter as "author of 'Pride and Prejudice,' 'Sense and Sensibility,'" etc. Doubtless the Christian name of "Jane" induced the slip. All remember and nearly all—Charlotte Bronte was one notable exception—love Jane Austen; not so many remember Jane Porter.—Westminster Gazette.

Magic of a Siphon.

When a pipe shaped like the inverted letter U, in which the arms are of equal length, is filled with water and each end of the pipe is put into a separate vessel full of water "the downward pull" or weight of the liquid in each of the two arms will balance the other, and if the water is at the same level in the two vessels it will remain at that level in both vessels. But if the level of the water in one vessel is lower than in the other, since the two vessels are connected with a pipe full of water, the water will run down from the higher level to the lower. This constitutes what is called a siphon. A siphon itself has no more magic about it than a pencil has when it falls or than any other similar phenomenon in nature, yet some of the siphon's manifestations seem to be not only magical, but almost [illegible].—St. Nicholas

"Most Perfect Ode."

One hundred years ago appeared what Byron called "the most perfect ode in the language," "The Burial of Sir John Moore." It was the Newry Telegraph which gave to the world this anonymous poem of Rev. Charles Wolfe which won for its author but a posthumous fame, for not until his death in 1823 was its real authorship made known though various had been the guesses as to the writer. That obscure curate of Ballyclog must have felt proud indeed to find among its putative authors such poets as Campbell and Byron.—London Chronicle

She Was Too Radiant.

The elder Swift, founder of one of the great Chicago beef concerns, hated to see women working in bright clothes, according to a man who once labored for the Swift concern. There happened to be a stenographer at the works, however, who bought all the loud raiment she could and looked like a combination of a merry-go-round and a rainbow when she walked through the yards.

One day the elder Swift caught sight of her. He called his assistant.

"Who is that?" he asked.

"Why, that's Mr. Blank's stenographer."

"How much does she get?"

"Twenty-five a week."

"Dock her."

"I'm afraid she'll leave."

Swift shot a glance at his assistant before he answered.

"If she doesn't," he said, "dock her again."—Earl Godwin in Washington Star.

The Long Lived Farmer.

Man armed with a Lee protects himself from the agencies of death more effectively than man with any other life defense method. The United States bureau of statistics has discovered that important fact by a study of the records of the life insurance companies. The "long lived life of the farmer" is longer not because it simply seems longer, but because he lives in the midst of protective agencies. The statistics of the entire country show that farmers live longer than all others, fifty-eight years being the average span of life. Bookkeepers and office assistants live the shortest lives, thirty-six years being their average limit of endurance. Among the office workers tuberculosis is the worst enemy of life, 35 per cent of them having died of that disease. Among the farmers heart disease causes the most deaths, 16 per cent of the total.—Worcester Telegram.

Told by the Windmill.

In certain districts of Holland news of a domestic sort is frequently announced by the windmills. When, for instance, a miller gets married he stops his mill with the arms of the wheel in an oblique position and with the sails unfurled. His friends and guests do likewise with their mills in celebration of the ceremony. To announce a birth the wheel is stopped with the arms in a slanting position, but at a more acute angle than for a marriage and with the two upper sails unfurled. In the event of a miller's death his family causes the sails of his mill to be all furled, and the mill is turned around until the arms assume an upright cross in which position they are left until after the funeral has taken place.

Contrasts and the Eye.

Lecturing on "The Effect on the Eye of Varying Degrees of Brightness and Contrast" before the Illuminating Engineer Society recently, Dr. Kerr of the public health department of the London county council referred to some effects which may be surprising. Having to examine long lists of figures in black type, he tried to facilitate his task by drawing vertical and horizontal lines in red ink, but the different focusing of the black and red strained his eye and gave him a headache, which did not trouble him when all the figures and lines were either black or red.

One of Them Did.

As good a real kid story as you've probably noticed for awhile is related herewith: The four-year-old son was having lunch alone with his grandmother. At his proposal they agreed to play "father and mother." He was the father, and she was the mother. After the few words of grace he bent forward in excellent imitation of his father and said, "Well, mother, and have the children said anything cute today?"—Philadelphia Star.

What They Were Doing.

"What wuz Si an' his wife a-doin' when you stopped at their farm awhile ago, Zeke?"

"Oh, a-hemmin' an' a-hawin'."

"Hemmin' an' hawin'?"

"Yep. She was hemmin' a apron, an' he was hawin' at the mule."—Florida Times-Union.

Sufficient Reason.

"Are you an art connoisseur?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Sumrox, "although I should never speak of myself as such."

"Why not?"

"Because I'm not absolutely sure I know how to pronounce the word."—Exchange.

Mean Revenge.

"Brown sent me a brick by parcel post, but I got even with him."

"What did you do?"

"Passed the word along to a number of agents that he was figuring on taking out more life insurance."—Detroit Free Press.

Waste of Cash.

"My wife is afflicted with a wasting disease."

"Wasting disease."

"Yes. She has a bad case of shopping habit."—Boston Transcript.

Travel.

All travel has its advantages. If the passenger visits better countries he may learn to improve his own, and if fortune carries him to worse he may learn to enjoy his own.—Johnson.

Sensitive.

Dentist—We must kill the nerve of that tooth. Patient—Then I will go out of the room. I'm too tender hearted to witness it.

A good action is never lost. It is a treasure laid up and guarded for the doer's need.—Calderon.
